It would be nice if you guys can hire locals from the Kuskokwim Delta to monitor the head waters of the Project and Project Site Safety Inspectors, the local hire's will need to be Native Alaskans. If we can get our people from the Kuskokwim Delta involved within the office planning or th central nervous system we may as will be ready to move on to the next step of training our Native People to responding to any emergencies from this project to properly maintaining the site to safety Standards. We the people of the Kuskokwim Delta need more involvement, not only in the hands on working process but we need qualified Native Leaders that will work within MAIN ADMINISTRATION OFFICE to the smallest office. This project is a BIG GAMBLE to our way of LIFE, I DO NOT BELIEVE this project will have no significant impacts to our resources, Remember, for every action there is always a negative reaction and we Natives need to make sure that there is back up plan to deal with this Negative Reaction and If the resources we rely on are threatened or contaminated will this project provide us Natives or anyone that relies on the resources with income to cover the costs until the resources are restored to its natural conditions?
