PROCEEDINGS

MR. COLE: We should call to order this meeting of what 2 3 is currently styled as the Trustee Council. I'm Charles Cole, 4 and I've been asked as a State Trustee to act as Chairman of 5 this first meeting of the Council. I'd like to introduce first 6 the State Trustees: Carl Rosier, Commissioner of Fish and Game; John Sandor, Commissioner of Environmental Conservation; 7 8 and the Federal trustees Steve Pennoyer, who is the nominee of 9 Dr. John Knauss Federal Statutory Trustee; Curt McVee, nominee 10 of Secretary Lujan, Secretary of the Interior; and, Dave 11 Gibbons, who is sitting here this evening as a substitute, as 12 it were, for Mike Barton, who is the nominee of the Secretary 13 of Agriculture Madigan.

Mr. Barton, as is not unusual these days as a Juneau resident, was not able to be here with us this evening. We regret that it seems like a perennial problem in Juneau, transportation in and out of that place. I'm told by one of the attorneys in the Department of Law that they had two or three missed approaches today, and she was fortunate to eventually get back to work in Juneau.

First, I think that we should ask if any of the members of the council here wish to make any preliminary opening statements. First, maybe I should say a word.

I want to assure everyone here and everyone in this State that perhaps we can alleviate their concerns that there have been these mysterious secret meetings of this group, because there have been none. Let me also, if I may, alleviate concerns, of some, that decisions have been reached by this group; because no decisions have been reached by this group.

5 The State Trustees joined, without dissent by the 6 Federal trustees, in having firmly committed themselves to open 7 meetings of this council, not only simply as a perfunctory 8 requirement of the State Open Meeting Law Statute, but as a 9 matter of good solid Government; and that's the way we will 10 continue to conduct the business of this Trustee Council.

11 Now, we recognize that some of you may have the view 12 that the notice of this meeting was somewhat truncated. That may be a legitimate observation or criticism, but one of the 13 14 things that we had in mind was to get this organization going and underway. And we thought, especially with the Christmas 15 holidays coming, with the New Years following shortly 16 thereafter, that it was important that we start the process. 17 18 So the meeting notice was, perhaps, not quite as lengthy as we would have liked. I will the next time, if I'm still acting in 19 20 this capacity, be a little more forceful about notice; about a longer notice and about dissemination of that notice in all of 21 22 the specialty communities affected by the Oil Spill.

But I'm satisfied, as demonstrated by the people that we have here this evening, that the notice has been reasonably effective.

Beyond that, I ask fellow Trustees here if any of them wish to make an opening comment. And, let me say one other thing. You can see this is not well scripted. Why are we here tonight? Let me start with that so we can have a little bit of a framework.

6 Well, basically we're here this evening pursuant to the 7 terms of this Memorandum of Agreement and Consent Decree which 8 was signed by Representatives of the United States and the 9 State of Alaska on August 27th, and approved by Judge Holland 10 and filed in the United States District Court on August 29, That agreement was made before the settlement with 11 1991. 12 Exxon, which supplies monies with which this group will be 13 largely concerned, and, therefore, some of the provisions of 14 that agreement address prospective litigation to be conducted 15 jointly by the State of Alaska and the United States.

16 But the operative provisions of that agreement with 17 which we are primarily concerned with here this evening, and in 18 the future activities of this Trustee Council are involved, are 19 those which provide for a co-trusteeship for the collection and 20 the joint use of all recoveries for the benefit of the natural 21 resources injured, lost, or destroyed as a result of the Oil 22 Spill. So, by virtue of that agreement, there is the Joint 23 Trusteeship Agreement and this is the Joint Trusteeship body 24 which will carry out those provisions.

There are further provisions in the agreement dealing with the same subject. One of the provisions which I think I 1 should call to your attention is the provision that the 2 3 decisions on the part of the Trustees are required to be 4 This was a subject of which there was considerable unanimous. 5 debate among the Representatives of the Department of Justice 6 and the State of Alaska, and I think it came down to a 7 recognition that -- especially on the part of the State 8 representatives -- that the State would have a firm hand in 9 this Joint Trusteeship. And it was one of the Governor's 10 principal views that he did not want to see this Joint 11 trusteeship and the use of these monies controlled by 12 Washington, D.C.

13 So in a sense, under the terms of this agreement, there are three vetoes -- three possible vetoes to Federal decisions. 14 15 And by the way, you know, there's three Federal vetoes, too, in case they think we get out of line. But, we think it's a nice 16 17 balance, and I think it will serve to guide the Trusteeship in a conservative manner, so that we'll have to have that 18 19 unanimous agreement before any principal decisions, or all 20 major and substantive agreements are made with respect to this 21 group.

One other provision of the agreement I want to call to your attention tonight is that which is on page 11 which provides this: within 90 days after the receipt of any natural resource damage recovery, the Trustees shall agree to an organizational structure for decision-making under this Memorandum of Agreement, and shall establish procedures providing for meaningful public participation in the injury assessment and restoration process, which shall include establishment of a public advisory group to advise the Trustees with respect to the matters described in previous provisions of this agreement.

I have read the correspondence of some of the 8 9 environmental groups about public participation, and I want to call to their attention that this Trustee Council will deal 10 11 later this evening, initially, with public participation. But 12 I do want to say that the agreement provides for meaningful 13 public participation in the injury assessment and restoration 14 process. It's a little limited, it does not provide for public 15 participation in, for example, the formulation of the 16 organization.

17 So, with those somewhat lengthy preliminary comments I 18 now first ask or will extend the privilege to the public 19 Trustees to make any preliminary or opening statements they 20 wish to make at this time. Thank you.

21 MR. PENNOYER: Thanks, Charlie. I think you covered it 22 very well. I think I'd add that some of us have been involved 23 in the Exxon Valdez process since practically a day after the 24 Spill. And, certainly what you said about public participation 25 is something we've been looking for a long time. And those of us who took part in the science and damage assessment was troubled by the fact that for that whole period of time, being litigation sensitive, there really was a difficulty in dealing with what I think we now have to deal with.

5 The whole purpose and scope of this process is to 6 restore the resources in Prince William Sound and, certainly, a 7 key element is that those who have been damaged or have been 8 involved in that have a role to play in our structuring of the 9 resource restoration program. So, I don't think I have a whole 10 lot extra to say. I think you covered the agreement. And, 11 Curt, do you want to say a word?

12 MR. McVEE: Maybe just a comment. Some of the Interior 13 agencies would expand, Steve, the resources of Prince William 14 Sound to also mean those in the Gulf of Alaska. And, that's 15 been drilled into my mind the last few months since I assumed 16 this responsibility.

But, I guess, in representing the Secretary, I know that he is intent on this process working and that we move the decision process on restoration, you know, effectively so it is focused in Alaska and functions here, and that only those conflicts that can't be resolved by the Trustee's Council, you know, would be elevated to the Trustees themselves.

And, so I think we -- my personal feeling is that, from the Interior's, standpoint we have a strong commitment to make this process work.

MR. COLE: Thank you, Mr. McVee. John Sandor, comments?

MR. SANDOR: Thank you. I want to make the point of my personal experience as a representative of the State of Alaska of the excellent cooperation we've observed between the Federal government agencies and the State of Alaska agencies in the clean-up work, in the damage assessments, the litigation. And, this cooperative process has really been outstanding in my many years of Government service.

I want to also make the point that this close cooperation is continuing in this phase of going into the postrestoration activities.

And, finally, I just can't help but observe how tremendous it is that we're at this stage and how fortunate the citizens of Alaska and the citizens of the State and the Nation really are in having this litigation settled and behind us.

And so, over the very strong outlook of optimism, we see a very positive working relationship with our Federal counterparts in this next important work. Thank you.

MR. COLE: Commissioner Rosier, comments?
MR. ROSIER: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I don't think that I can add a great deal more. I think that we're getting started fairly late here this evening, and to keep it short, I'll keep my comments brief until we get into the meat of the agenda here on this.

We look forward to working with our Federal counterparts there. And, as the management agency that -- or one of the management agencies who has prime responsibility for a lot of the resources that were impacted by the Oil Spill out there, I certainly look forward to getting the settlement arrangements off and running and beginning to see some of the healing that those resources deserve.

8 With that I'll cut it off and turn it back to you,
9 Mr. Chairman.

MR. COLE: And, lastly, we have Dave Gibbons.

11 MR. GIBBONS: Mr. Chairman, excuse me, I've got one 12 short statement. I just talked to Mike Barton on the phone and 13 he would like to have me pass along his sincere regrets for not 14 being here. But, as Trustee Cole mentioned, that was not a 15 matter of his choice. I quess he spent quite a bit of time in 16 the airport. He did say that he got some reading done, but 17 other than that, not too much done at the airport. But he just 18 wanted to pass along his regrets.

MR. COLE: Thank you, Mr. Gibbons.

It's probably appropriate now that we talk a little bit among the Trustee members of how this Trustee Council is going to be organized. You might think that this is a decision that's been made in smoke filled rooms, but it really hasn't. We recognize, as I'm sure you realize, that it's not

1 making process by the Statutory Federal Trustees and the 2 Statutory State Trustees, which as you likely know there are 3 six under the Clean Water Act, or the CIRCLA Act, and I'm never 4 really sure what all that stands for, but I know it's called 5 CIRCLA.

6 As you know, the Federal Trustees are Secretary 7 Madigan, Dr. Knauss as the lead Federal Trustee, and Secretary 8 Lujan. Then there are we three State Statutory Trustees 9 appointed by the Governor. So it's just a recognition that 10 getting Secretary Lujan, Secretary Madigan and Secretary 11 Knauss -- or Dr. Knauss, for NOAA, to get together and hold 12 these meetings just won't work; they're not going to come up here and sit here in Alaska and participate in these decisions. 13 And certainly the State Trustees are not going to go back, if 14 you can get those three top level Federal officials together, 15 16 to meet with them.

17 So, in addition to that, the State Trustees have felt and continue to feel very strongly that this Trustee Council 18 and how these monies are expended and the entire restoration 19 20 process development should be headquartered and centered in And I think that it's an achievement, both for the 21 Alaska. 22 State and for the United States, that we've been able to get this far; that we're sitting here this evening among this 23 24 group, and that the decisions governing this MOA are going to be made in Alaska and by people who live in Alaska. 25

And, so I'll first turn these comments over to Mr. McVee about his -- the Federal proposal, the Secretary's proposal for the process of the organization. If you'd like to tell us about it and discuss it.

MR. McVEE: Okay. Thanks, Chairman Cole.

6 I have a handout. As members of the Trustee Council, 7 I'm sure that you have one of these. We would make the rest 8 available for those people that are here. I guess every --9 everything has to start some place, and so maybe this is a 10 starting point that we have here. It's evolved from 11 conversations between the Federal trustees, and we have -- you 12 know, it's still a draft, and it has had no exposure at this 13 point in the State of Alaska; so you people that are here are 14 seeing it for the first time in the State. But it is a 15 starting point.

And, some of the concepts that we're dealing with, or trying to deal with, of course, are to create an efficient organization. And that's not particularly easy when you deal with, you know, three State and three Federal agencies that have major management responsibilities. And so it's our best shot as a beginning point, I think, on the Federal side as to where we might start.

As Mr. Cole had mentioned, we have 90 days in order to put together a general framework plan, which includes organization. And during that period of time, I expect that we will have a lot of opportunity for public participation at different phases in that process. And one of the elements of that plan will be this organization.

ACE 1926864

R & R COURT REPORTERS

810 N STREET 277-0572 OR 277-0573 FAX 274-8982

4 In talking about the goals for post-settlement 5 organization. And I might just say this before I go into that, 6 that we are going into what you might say is a new phase of the 7 Exxon Valdez issue, you know, the restoration versus the 8 natural resource damage assessment and the litigation, I quess 9 you might say, mode or focus that we had previously. And so 10 it's our feeling on the Federal side, at least, that we need an 11 organization that focuses very tightly, very precisely on the 12 restoration issue, which is different.

13 The goals we would like to see addressed are to focus 14 the Federal implementation responsibility in the Alaska 15 Regional and State organizations. And to explain that a little 16 bit, is that the Department of Interior has substantial staffs 17 and capability within the National Park Service and the Fish 18 and Wildlife Service, which are the principal two Interior 19 agencies involved, and we'd like to see the implementation 20 responsibility focused on those agencies.

First, there's, you know, staffing up a new organization of some sort to carry on the program. We feel like that those organizations have planning capability, that they have contracting capability, they have scientific and technical capability to handle the Federal program.

1 MR. COLE: Let me ask this: Would you put the State 2 organizations on a parity with the Federal organizations there 3 that you've just referred to?

MR. McVEE: Yes. I guess I'm speaking, Charlie, that I 4 5 would have no problem if that's the way the State proposes to 6 or wants to run the program because, you know, we've been 7 working closely -- our agencies have been working closely with 8 the State organizations through this process, through the 9 damage assessment process; so, you know, it is part of the 10 continuation of that in a way, but the scientific capabilities, 11 certainly, of State organizations, you know, as well as 12 management abilities, need to be brought to bear.

13 But, I think by focusing the Federal implementation 14 responsibilities in Alaska, that makes it easier to do what 15 you're, I think, suggesting.

16 The second thing was to provide unassailable fiscal 17 accounting; and, probably, that doesn't need much explanation; 18 that we have to be able to justify where the money goes. There will be audits on the Federal side, and I assume that the State 19 20 is subject to audit through certain processes also.

21 Third, was to organize within the existing structure 22 where feasible; and that goes, I guess, somewhat to item one, 23 also, the first goal; and I think this is part of creating the 24 efficiency and eliminating excess costs, overhead costs.

Four, provide for maximum use of settlement funds for on the ground restoration activities and minimize use of settlement funds for overhead and administrative costs. And, I think that's very important because the benefits to the resources will be from those monies that we invest in the damaged area.

Fifth, was to improve -- improvement of the Alaska/Washington Federal interface. And, that kind of goes with the focus of the Federal implementation responsibilities in Alaska.

Sixth, provide optimum public and scientific review.
We agree with Mr. Cole's comments concerning public input, and also see the requirement that the activities that are conducted need to have a sound scientific base. Our decisions need a sound scientific base.

I would visualize that there will be some part of the restoration funds that will be spent on additional studies; what I call the monitoring and natural resource recovery type of studies in the future. Those have to be designed with utilizing proper science.

And, I guess the seventh is, you know, as a goal, is to define, you know, a good decision-making process; a process that is defensible and that is explained, so that it's defined to the public so they know what -- how we are going about decision-making which, of course, is necessary for the public in order to make their input.

1 On the flow charts, the first top one is a functional 2 flow chart, you know, versus an organizational flow chart, and 3 it shows the three Federal Trustees, which Mr. Cole mentioned, 4 the Trustee Council group, this group, three State and three 5 Federal, a Resource Restoration Coordination Group. And this. 6 as I see it, the Federal Trustee Council members and State 7 Trustee Council members, is our key staff people that probably 8 will do the hard work and, you know, the staff work necessary 9 to come before us to make decisions, working through processes, 10 options, identifying options and so on, financial oversight 11 group.

12 And then we see that there will be sub-groups formed as Some of these, you know, would be ad hoc, maybe of 13 needed. 14 short duration, to take on a single task; some of them we 15 visualize would probably be of a long-term nature, maybe not meeting continuously but, at least, on a periodic basis as 16 17 needed. And, I think, you know, as you look at all the tasks 18 we have to do, you can pretty much identify what kind of sub-19 groups are necessary.

20 Of course, the Public Advisory Group that's required 21 would provide advice to the Trustee Council. And we've given 22 some thought as to the kind of elements or organizations or 23 interests that would be represented on that advisory group.

24 I think, I guess, my first feeling is to try to make that as effective as possible. Through the years I've dealt 25 with a lot of advisory groups and, you know, I find that that is a very fruitful kind of exercise, kind of process to go through, that it's an advantage to Government to have that kind of input.

MR. COLE: Could I ask a couple of questions? MR. McVEE: Yes, certainly, Charlie.

8 MR. COLE: The State Trustees saw this first page flow 9 chart this afternoon, as you know, about 4:30 by FAX, so we 10 have some questions about it, if you don't mind. Am I to 11 understand that you and Mr. Pennoyer and Mr. Barton are the 12 members of the Trustee Council appointed by the Federal 13 statutory trustees?

MR. MCVEE: Yes.

MR. PENNOYER: That's correct.

16 MR. COLE: We can, say, lay that to rest?

17

MR. McVEE: Yes.

18 MR. COLE: Okay. Well, then we have the three State 19 trustees; so we can sort of get down to the Trustee Council, I 20 think.

Now, what's this line of the EPA over there? I mean, the reason I mention that is because, as you know, this Memorandum of Agreement says that the decisions on the part of the Federal Trustees shall be made in consultation with the EPA, and that was a huge battle ground, as I recall, when we negotiated this agreement; that the EPA Federal Agency would not be advising, as it were, the State Trustees.

So, I'm going to ask you a little about that. What's the story there?

5 MR. McVEE: Okay. Let me respond. The President made 6 a commitment that the EPA will be involved in the restoration 7 process. And their involvement, precisely, is providing advice 8 to the Federal Trustees and also as co-leader or co-chair of 9 the restoration planning activity on the Federal side.

And so as the chart is drawn, it doesn't show all the detail I guess that's necessary to explain that, but that is the role that we understand that EPA will play. It'll relates to the Federal Trustees; it's in the MOA.

The Government acknowledges that the President has assigned to EPA the role of advising Federal Trustees, in coordinating on behalf of the Federal Government, the long term restoration of natural resources injured, lost or destroyed as a result of the Oil Spill.

MR. COLE: So that accounts for them being on this 20 pamphlet?

21 MR. McVEE: That's why they are on the box.
22 MR. COLE: One comment about the Public Advisory Group; 23 is that meant to be definitive, or are those just 24 illustrations?

2 MR. COLE: Did you have any questions, John or Carl, 3 about this flow chart?

MR. ROSIER: Yeah, I had one. You spoke to the Administrative Director Resource Restoration Coordination Group utilization, apparently, of in-house capability there. What did you visualize as far as the sub-groups were concerned, the composition of those? Would that be public as well as agency, or what do you

MR. McVEE: Those I would guess would be, you know, additional staff that we would need to assign. And, you know, some examples, of course; one is the Restoration Planning Coordination Group, which is, as I see it, where the responsibility would lie for the development of the plan that we have to put together here in the next 90 days or so.

Another one that we might set up there would be -- and this is just a thought -- would be a public participation planning group, you know, to pull together a plan, at least the first cut at a plan that we could take a look at and we could start to utilize early on.

I guess another one that I've thought about would be a group to try and develop an umbrella plan or framework plan for all the studies, the kind of additional studies in terms of measuring natural resource recovery, of future monitoring, an umbrella plan to guide us in making decisions on specific

I might mention, you know, that considerable work has been done on a number of these things already by the organization that's now in place, and I think that's a good place to take off on our new organization.

MR. COLE: Commissioner Sandor?

7 MR. SANDOR: Yes. If I could just raise a point with 8 regard to the Environmental Protection Agency's advisory and 9 coordination role. First, I think the definition of 10 coordination might be open to wide interpretation. We'd hope 11 it'd be more advisory than directory in nature. I guess the more important thing that would concern me, though, Curt, would 12 be that the EPA advice and direction would be Alaskan based. 13

I would be concerned if the advice and coordination coming out of that block was from Washington, D.C. And, quite frankly, not much more comforted if it came from Seattle.

So the best answer to this, of course, would be the establishment of a Region 11 with EPA in Alaska, and then I'd feel a lot more comfortable about that. This probably is not within your purview, but I think for the record I would raise that.

MR. MCVEE: I would guess your comments were duly noted by Susan McMullen of EPA who's sitting here. I think maybe the other Federal members have something to add to what I've said, Mr. Cole.

I think, Curt, were you going to go through 7 some of the possible duties of these units?

8 MR. COLE: I think maybe we could get to that in a 9 minute. One thing I thought is, is there objection to 10 conceptually adopting the flow chart through the creation of the Trustee Council? 11

17

MR. ROSIER: Certainly none from here.

13 MR. COLE: Can then we regard it as decided unanimously 14 that the Trustee Council is hereby established and comprised of 15 the Federal nominees and the three State Statutory Trustees?

MR. PENNOYER: I believe that's agreeable.

MR. SANDOR: Agreed.

18 Now, did you want to -- Mr. Pennoyer or MR. COLE: 19 Dave, did you want to address some of the lower level tiers 20 there?

21 MR. PENNOYER: Well, I believe we have attached to that 22 diagram a list of the various possible duties of the groups 23 that it has envisioned. I think the Resource Restoration 24 Coordination Group is sort of a management team group to assist 25 us in carrying out our functions. And, we envisioned it being

1 composed of representatives of the various agencies at more of 2 the working level. But we also envisioned that we were going 3 to need some full-time support staff and administration of some 4 kind to coordinate the activities of that group, and to report 5 And I think we envisioned to us and support us directly. 6 that the position listed there as Administrative Director 7 would, in fact, do that.

8 And some of the duties listed are budgetary and contract coordination, liaison with the Trustee Council, and 9 10 the Public Advisory Committee, supervise a small administrative 11 staff, and I think we'd emphasize "small," and non-voting 12 chair, or perhaps better, presiding officer of the Resource Restoration Group, and interaction with the public and public 13 14 officials. So it's a full-time commitment to supporting us in 15 that type of a function.

16 MR. COLE: Well, let's -- Mr. Gibbons, do you have 17 something you want to

MR. GIBBONS: Not in that regard.

19 MR. COLE: Okay. Well, let's talk about that a little 20 bit. How many members of that coordination group do you 21 believe we should establish or appoint?

22 MR. PENNOYER: Well, I think the proposal was to 23 represent each of the Trustee Council members agencies on that. 24 So, there'd be one for each of them, basically six.

MR. PENNOYER: We'd be committed to a full-timecommitment to that, not just part-time.

MR. COLE: Mr. Rosier?

2 MR. ROSIER: I guess I don't have any problem with 3 committing someone full-time, but I think that there's another 4 question that's involved. I assume that these people that 5 we're talking about here would be retained within the agency, 6 that they would come together at some point. We're not talking 7 about moving people out of the agencies into a central 8 location?

9 MR. COLE: Oh, that's what I'm trying to address, as to 10 whether these six people are going to sit, you know, 11 figuratively in the same room and work on these projects, or 12 whether they're going to be able to perform other duties. For 13 example, Governmental duties, while they serve as a member of 14 this Coordination Group, as we've called them.

MR. ROSIER: Well, I have no problem committing, Mr. Chairman, to a full-time position on this, but certainly I would assume that by committing to that, that my designee would in fact be a person that would stay with my agency and not be moved out of the agency.

20 MR. SANDOR: And then, Mr. Chairman, with respect to 21 the agency that I represent, I certainly have no problem in 22 committing a full-time -- the equivalent of a full-time 23 position, and I would see the desirability of having perhaps 24 some different participants in different skills, perhaps, 25 brought to bear. So I'd want to reserve judgment on how that -- the equivalent of the full-time be applied. 1

I think actually the way this is going to work -- would 2 3 have to work -- is that one person and an alternate, perhaps, would be the lead, and I would see a broad range of individuals 4 5 within each of our agencies contributing. And, if in fact at some Restoration Group meeting discussion that dealt with some 6 7 specific activity, this might not be the lead or not be the 8 primary person, but a secondary person. So we'll need 9 flexibility in the operation and management of that group.

MR. COLE: But that troubles me, you know, first, 10 because my prospective nominee, super star, cannot spend full-11 time on this particular subject. And, I think we have to be 12 13 very clear. Are we talking about these six first-round draft 14 picks, as they were, being there full-time on this group, or 15 whether they can go -- you know, do perform other duties in 16 your department? And, I think we have to be very clear about 17 that, that we can't fudge it or, you know, sort of gum it up a little bit. And, I think John touched upon it, but we have to 18 19 be very clear on that. What do you think, Curt? 1 face a little different situation, organizationally, and we 2 have to deal with that, and I think we can, you know, if we're
3 flexible. We have to be flexible where we've got six Trustees
4 involved. And, in respect to that, you know, I don't want to 5 move to Juneau, but -- I apologize for that to you other

MR. COLE: Oh, I didn't either, so don't feel like the 7 only one around here.

8 MR. MCVEE: And, I'm not prepared to, you know, direct 9 a transfer of the person that we have in mind to move to 10 Juneau, which will probably set her at ease at this moment, I 11 hope, but I see this group working full-time, but coming 12 together periodically in the early stages.

I think it's going to demand a lot of time on our part to deal with all the tasks that we have. That may level out, you know, but -- so I see a lot of meetings. So I expect a considerable travel to Juneau where the other five people will be, maybe.

MR. COLE: Yeah. You've got to be very flexible about scheduling, you're dealing with Juneau. But, here's the thing. Do we then have a power of substitution, so to speak, on this six member group? If we do, I think we can solve his problem. Rather than a designation of one person and that one person acts all the time because -- what do you think?

24 MR. SANDOR: Well, I think it's imperative that we have 25 that power of substitution. The bottom line really would be, again, that there be one, you know, vote, I guess, or position. 1 2 as opposed to some mixture. And, at any one Restoration Group 3 meeting there be each of the six agencies represented and, you 4 know, able to take a position. But, we must have the flexibility of having different people being able to appear at 5 6 different times, depending on the subject area.

MR. COLE: Mr. Gibbons? Dave?

8 Yeah. Being involved in this process MR. GIBBONS: 9 like Steve has from the start, I've looked at the workload, and 10 the workload recently you would think after you reach 11 settlement would go down, and it really hasn't; it's gone up.

12 And, so I really am of the opinion that we need 13 somebody full-time on this; and we preferably would like to see 14 them housed together so the coordination would be improved, in 15 one location, still connected with the agencies, but housed in 16 one location.

17 MR. COLE: Well, that brings up another question. 18 Where is this group going to be headquartered, really? I mean 19 maybe we ought to decide that, too, while we're at it.

20 MR. ROSIER: I nominate Juneau. I think I lost 21 already.

277-8543

22 MR. PENNOYER: I think we've run into our first problem 23 by having six different viewpoints, and not necessarily 24 consistent. I think that as Dave said, having also been 25 involved in it right from the start of the process, we found

1 that in the management team type approach you need some 2 consistency. I don't think we ever envisioned that only one person would bring our expertise to whatever is being done 4 there.

As a matter of fact, I think our view is we would have 5 6 the lead, and they could bring in whoever they wanted or needed 7 to at any time to assist. Obviously, we all are going to have 8 to have some flexibility. We've got different organizations, 9 we've got different situations, we've got different people 10 involved. But I would hope that as we do this we do bring 11 consistency to the process, because if you have a different person sitting at the table each time, I think you're going to 12 13 find that you're not going to be able to make the decisions you 14 want to make in a timely fashion, and you'll lose some 15 continuity and history.

16 So, we may revolve and evolve and have alternates and 17 substitutes, but I think it's fairly important to try and have 18 that consistency, however we achieve it.

MR. COLE: Curt? Mr. McVee?

277-8543

20 I guess something else I meant to say, and MR. So, we're in a -- you 10 know, it's a dilemma, I guess, from our perspective.

11

MR. COLE: So what are you saying?

12 MR. MCVEE: I guess we're saying that, you know, we 13 would propose to operate from the Interior standpoint with a 14 person headquartered here, participating in a lot of travel to 15 I guess my feeling is that with the other five Juneau. 16 trustees and their principal staffs in Juneau, we were going to 17 have to give on this one and recognize that probably most of 18 the work would be done in Juneau.

MR. GIBBONS: I feel like we probably have, you know, 1 2 explored organization. Probably as we move on in future 3 meetings, there's quite a bit more to talk about there.

4 MR. COLE: Sure. Well, let's say this, if we can do 5 something, when will we get the members of this Restoration 6 Coordination Group appointed? Should we establish a deadline 7 for selecting of the nominees so we can be satisfied that will 8 be accomplished, too? I would think we should.

9 MR. McVEE: My feeling is that the sooner we can do it 10 the better. Maybe even to give them an opportunity to meet 11 before we would meet next -- before the Council would meet 12 next, whenever that might be, which probably should be fairly 13 But, I don't know, I quess from Interior standpoint, you soon. 14 know, we could name a person -- our person by tomorrow or 15 Monday morning, or whenever.

MR. PENNOYER: That sounds fine.

MR. COLE: A week from tomorrow? Let's see, that's the 3 13th. The 13th. Great. Is it too long? All right. Do we 4 want to move on now to the public participation issue there? 5 Mr. McVee, you want to address that, please?

I think we've all talked about public 6 MR. MCVEE: Yes. 7 participation and I quess I feel it's important, and maybe this 8 is one of the charges that we would give to our RRCG early on, 9 is to get some of our folks together, experts in that area, and 10 we all have them because our organizations are involved in many public participation programs, but to draft a discussion 11 12 document that we could start to utilize on what is encompassed 13 in that plan.

14 And we have had correspondence from a number of people 15 and organizations with various suggestions. We could of course 16 give that correspondence with those ideas to this group to come 17 up with a participation plan. It's one of the thoughts that we've talked about a little bit on the Federal side, is some 18 19 type of scoping meetings maybe as early as January -- mid-20 January -- early to mid-January. And this would be to set up a 21 series of issues that -- or provide a target for the public to 22 shoot at that we see that has to be addressed, and go with 23 these issues and a team to the various locations, communities 24 in the oil spill area and around the Oil Spill area, you know, 25 to get some ideas of what kinds of suggestions and thoughts are out there that can be utilized by the Trustees Council and by the RRCG in developing the plans and the ideas. I guess the other -- excuse me

4 MR. COLE: When you say scoping meetings, who's meeting 5 with whom? I mean, I don't understand that.

6 Okay. I guess I'm using maybe terminology MR. MCVEE: 7 that has come out of the EPA process, and I apologize for that. 8 But what's done there typically is that before we start an environmental impact statement on the Federal side that we go 9 10 through a process of identifying all issues that are going to 11 be addressed. And, in this instance we could identify the 12 things that have to be addressed, or the restoration plan, the 13 framework plan, the advisory group, you know, studies program and so on. And, you know, we'd publish a one-page list of 14 issues and maybe some explanation, and then arrange for scoping 15 16 meetings versus hearings, but discussion meetings with various locations, various communities, particularly around the Oil-17 18 Spill area and record the public input that we're receiving at that point. 19

It seems to me like that starts an early process of public participation, it identifies to us on the council who the interested public are, and it will help us identify, I think, as we move forward say, for example, in the advisory board process, you know, those people that are really interested and willing and able to participate and want to give

5 MR. McVEE: Yes, I think that that would be probably 6 the best place to have it done. 1 public has an opportunity to speak.

2 And we don't need experts to tell us that we want to And so I would recommend that you open up the meeting 3 speak. 4 or designate a short period of time, perhaps, to just say that people who might want to be involved and might want to give 5 6 their suggestions about what members of the public are involved 7 in the public advisory panel and how -- I would, at least, like 8 you to address how those are going to be chosen and are the 9 people from the public going to be able to choose their own 10 representatives.

Well, I think that is the subject that this 11 MR. COLE: group is going to address and reach conclusions on after, as I 12 13 understand it, a wide public hearing process. Is that the 14 concept, Mr. McVee? That's what I understand.

15 MR. McVEE: My thought is that, you know, they have to look at -- that this group would look at -- that schedules, you 16 17 know, would be primarily one of their concerns as to when do we 18 need to, you know -- when do we need to really trigger, you 19 know, this kind of activity; when will we have something ready for the public to review to serve as a target. 20 21 And, I quess in many of these areas that we don't have 22 anything now and that the scoping meetings would serve as a 23 good base for some of that discussion.

MR. COLE: Here's the thing, Ms. Miller, as I 24 25 understand what the process is, you know; it's exactly what you want done, just that we're not doing it tonight. We're sort of 1 1 having some people get together and arrange for a process by 2 3 which even the public can be involved in how these organi- --4 how this public involvement is to be put together and 5 structured.

Yes, sir?

7 Could you get some input from AUDIENCE COMMENTS: Yes. 8 the crowd here? You suggested basing this in Juneau. It 9 certainly appears to me that Anchorage is more accessible to all the areas effected. I'd just like to hear some input from 10 11 the crowd before that decision flies away.

MR. COLE: Well, here's the thing. You know, this --12 13 let me put it this way. This is the first meeting of this 14 group, you know, we're trying to get some framework established so we can get on with the huge job that's before us. 15 I think 16 what we've decided tonight is that, temporarily, 'till we get 17 the organization underway, that the headquarters of this group 18 will be in Juneau. You know, that's a temporary subject.

19 When we get the Public Advisory Group together, that 20 certainly is a subject in which they can provide "meaningful 21 public participation." But, we have to make some decisions, we 22 have to get them made preferably, you know, even this evening, 23 as late as the hour is, in a sense, so we can get underway.

24 And, that's the idea. None of these decisions, except 25 I think, that some of these structural organizational meetings

1 are pretty much locked in stone, but these other decisions are 2 not. And, if we have, you know, too lengthy a public 3 participation on each one of these issues we're just not going 4 to get it done.

Yes?

MS. MARGARET SALMON: Margaret Salmon from Cordova. I, personally, and my organization would like to partake at all stages, even the preliminary setting up of how we're going to address the whole issue of distribution of funds and how we can participate. And, we would really appreciate Anchorage as the location.

MR. COLE: Yeah. Okay. Yes, sir?

13 AUDIENCE COMMENTS: I fully agree with what you just 14 said because you Trustees, if you don't get this worked out, we 15 clearly understand, before you go to the public, it's going to 16 be a real problem. I think the Trustees not only owe it to the 17 public to work this out, the structure of what you're going to 18 do, but also the subcommittees and how many other agencies are 19 going to be involved in this -- from past experience. If you 20 get this bogged down and so many agencies have got to review 21 this, and just from past experience on the permit section, 22 you'll never get it done.

23 MR. COLE: Well, thank you. Now, one of the things I 24 think we intend to do is make some decisions by this Trustee 25 Council, you know. And, we can't please everybody, but we want meaningful public participation, we want to hear these views, 1 2 and we have make some decisions and we have to get this 3 underway.

4 And I tell you, in my view, that if we don't get this 5 underway and going, I mean, the State of Alaska, the people who 6 live here, and the people who want to be involved in these 7 decisions and come to these meetings, I mean we're going to 8 lose it and it's going to be in Washington, D.C., where in many ways the control, in my view, of this whole process for the 9 10 last two years has been.

So, when we make these decisions, when we get this 11 12 underway, I mean it's not -- it's not just because, you know, 13 we regard ourselves as high potentates and we want to make the decision, but underlying it is to get this process in Alaska, 14 15 get the organization established in Alaska, and then we can 16 keep it in Alaska.

17 Now, you know, I really implore you to keep that in 18 mind as you think about the perpetuity with which some of these 19 decisions are being made.

20 Yes, sir?

21 I just thought you maybe had a deaf AUDIENCE COMMENTS: 22 ear to what I said earlier. Anchorage is the place to base this. 1

2 MR. COLE: Look, let me tell you, it's a temporary 3 decision. Maybe it's a week, maybe it's two weeks, you know, 4 but we have to get this organization established. Sure, I 5 mean, I have equivocations about whether this should be in 6 Anchorage, whether it should be in Juneau, you know, so do all 7 the trustees, but

8 AUDIENCE COMMENTS: There used to be a comment about 9 people moving into trailers temporarily; they were only going 10 to be there a little while and they were there ten years later. 11 Temporary is -- not to be argumentative, but I think it's an 12 important decision.

13 MR. COLE: Well, thank you. Anyone else feel they're being ignored? Yes, sir? 14

AUDIENCE COMMENTS: Well, I wouldn't go so far as to 15 16 say that, but information from this meeting -- for example, 17 this meeting was pulled together on short notice, and I don't 18 know what your method is going to be for disseminating 19 information to interested parties in the future. 1 we can't get that accomplished.

Yes, sir?

That's one of the problems, of course, 3 MR. PENNOYER: 4 is starting out like this we don't have the structure, we don't 5 We hastily set up a PA system, a have people doing that. recording system tonight to try and get started, recognizing it 6 7 was short, but recognizing, too, we want to get with it. We don't want to, for example, lose all next field season. 8 We'd 9 like to move and get public input on what we need to do well 10 enough in advance so we can gear up to do what restoration 11 activities and monitoring activities and so forth that need to 12 be done next field season.

So, I don't think anything is engraved in stone, but 13 14 we've got to start. We're in Juneau, the people who are going to advise us initially and advise us in an interim fashion are 15 16 there; we're going to have sub-groups, they're going to be 17 meeting all over the state. And, for example, in the recent --18 during the damage assessment process we had a sub-group located in Anchorage, there were a lot of functions carried out there. 19 So, I think that's -- and not just there, there'll be Cordova, 20 21 there'll be other places that we want to work out of. So, this 22 is an administrative thing to get the ball rolling. And, where the sub-groups that actually deal in some of the science 23 planning, and deal in some of the restoration planning 24 25 ultimately end up, that's still going to be a call for what's long-term, certainly, restoration planning effort that focuses on a lot more detail and a lot more depth. But, I think this initial effort is so critical and there are some basic requirements that have to be addressed, the budget, financial management system, restoration criteria, the monitoring and natural resource recovery studies, and the time frames that this is going to be done.

8 And, I guess part of the critical nature of this is 9 something that Mr. Pennoyer mentioned, and that is that if we want to have activities in the summer of '92, restoration 10 11 activities in the summer of '92, we need to get this done. 12 From the Federal side we've been told by the Office of Management and Budget, which we all respect highly, that it is 13 14 necessary for them to have the management plan, this framework 15 plan, before they will approve the release of funds. And, so 16 they're holding the purse strings until they see this.

17 So, it's so critical that we get this done, which leads 18 me, I guess, to the importance of the Restoration Planning 19 Committee and activating that as soon as possible. I would 20 have to say there's been a lot of good work done, you know, 21 currently which is a take-off point. It isn't like we're 22 starting at ground zero, we've got information which can be 23 utilized to start to pull this together. So, I believe that we 24 can do it fairly quickly. And, if we can do it in 60 days, 25 that's a lot better than 90 days from my perspective.

Do you want to comment, Commissioner Sandor? 1 MR. COLE: 2 MR. SANDOR: With respect to restoration and planning. 3 this is where I think the major and really meaningful public 4 participation is critical. And, I think within the restoration 5 planning process, the framework within which this has developed 6 has got to involve that. And, I think this is going to perhaps 7 drive, in fact, our activities and may ultimately decide where 8 in fact this Restoration Group and management activities is 9 going to be. This is what I see as perhaps the most crucial 10 public involvement activity.

MR. COLE: Mr. Pennoyer?

MR. PENNOYER: That's fine.

13 Gibbons? One thing I'd like to address is MR. COLE: 14 what are we going to do about these existing management council 15 and groups that apparently now in some ways float out there? 16 Well, I mean that's euphemistic terminology.

17

MR. PENNOYER: Exist.

277-8543

18 MR. COLE: Exist. Well, the reason I say -- let me 19 just define that a little more. The reason that I say float 20 out there is because I think that since the settlement was approved by Judge Holland, in a sense we're in a different vein 21 22 of the entire Exxon Valdez episode and restoration process. 23 And, I have a concern that the existing management council or 24 whatever it is, is not really being subject to any oversight 25 control. Now, maybe it's a misperception on my part, but, you

1 know, do my fellow State Trustees have any views in that 2 regard?

That's certainly a question that I've had. 3 MR. COLE: 4 I'm not sure what groups at all are continuing to work out 5 there, and I'm assuming that we're going to have to draw from some of the work that's ongoing here within those groups at the 6 7 But, it's not clear in my mind exactly who is present time. 8 doing what at the present time because it has been a long time 9 since the group had met and we've had any kind of a run-down in 10 terms of what those groups in effect have been doing.

MR. SANDOR: I think we do want to make absolutely certain that activities that are underway are concluded in a sound manner, and the projects, you know, are culminated in a scientific way, and that studies and so forth are terminated so that our records of activities that had been generated up to date can be complete and can serve as a basis of information for follow-up activity.

18 MR. PENNOYER: Mr. Chairman, I think we do have obviously a structure that existed doing damage assessment. 19 20 And, we had restoration and planning even at that stage. We've had certainly a damage assessment process with scientific 21 22 studies ongoing and people are involved in it, and a team that 23 looked at that process and advised the then trustee council on 24 it. And, I don't think that team is without direction, except 25 perhaps in the last couple of months there's been some uncertainty as to how to proceed, and I think that's what we're 1 2 trying to resolve tonight.

3 MR. COLE: Well, that's what I had in mind, is just the 4 last couple of months. They've certainly performed admirably 5 previously, but I think we lost, you know -- in the last two months we just don't have any control over where that group is 6 7 heading. That's my offhand view.

MR. PENNOYER: Mr. Chairman, I think that what we're 8 9 here for tonight and over the next few weeks is to try and 10 decide what direction it ought to have had. And, it's hard for 11 them to do it on their own because they are just advisory and 12 supportive groups, not decision-makers. And, I think that we're going to appoint a restoration -- Resource Restoration 13 Coordination Group that's going to, I think, have to draw that 14 15 together for us.

16 And certainly one of the first things they need to do 17 is, is to inventory what we've got out there and what we've got 18 ongoing so we don't lose what we need to keep and what we need to apply to this new effort. I think Commissioner Sandor said 19 20 that very well. We've had a lot of good studies done, we've got a lot of good work ongoing, and a lot of people who've done 21 a lot of admirable things over the past two years, and we need 22 to take that, mold it into what we need to proceed with from 23 here on restoration. And, I think that certainly is one of the 24 assignments we need should this Restoration Coordination Group 25 initially, is to bring that together, bring it back to us at 1 2 the next meeting, make some clear cut decisions at that point 3 as to what stays, goes, and how it's going to be molded.

4 MR. ROSIER: Yeah, well I certainly agree. I think 5 that John did say it very well there. And, there has been a 6 lot of good work done and I think that we want to be sure that 7 we do bring it to a logical conclusion on this.

8 But I, for one, find myself in a position of not really 9 knowing where we are with a lot of this, and it's been 10 primarily because we have not been together in my view. And so 11 I would certainly urge that we do have a rundown from our 12 Executive Director, if we have one, or from one of the existing 13 groups at the next meeting.

14 MR. COLE: I think we should then do that because what 15 troubles me is I don't know how much money is being spent, and 16 where it's coming from, and I think we should take steps to 17 find out about that, really, right away. Mr. McVee, am I off 18 base?

19 MR. MCVEE: No. I think that's important. And, that's 20 been a concern to us: (1) because we don't think that our 21 appropriated funds are going to cover, you know, some of the 22 activities that are necessary, and so we've been talking about 23 that problem.

24 But, I think it's important that we get started soon. 25 I guess I see that it's going to be necessary for us as a

1 Trustee Council during this initial stages to meet fairly often 2 so we could provide the direction to the -- to our group, to 3 the RRCG, because I think we -- they have to look to us for the 4 policy direction and guidance that's necessary.

5 And, in this formulative stage of the program it's 6 important for us to meet. If there's been any problems, I guess, any drifting, or lack of focus, we probably have to take 7 8 that responsibility for that occurring over the last few 9 months, I think, not the individuals that were trying to do the 10 job.

11 MR. COLE: Well, I agree with that. And, I think that's 12 just one of the reasons why we have to get underway.

Mr. Pennoyer?

14 MR. PENNOYER: Can we then make it as an agreed upon 15 primary assignment to the RRCG we're going to name by next week 16 to come to the next Trustee Council meeting with an inventory 17 of what exists out there, what indeed is ongoing, make some 18 decisions at that point of what needs to continue, what needs to be changed. 19

MR. PENNOYER: We had some preliminary discussions on 1 perhaps December 19th as an acceptable date that we were all 2 3 going to be available. It's about a week after we form the RRCG and gives them a chance to start working. 4

5 MR. COLE: Well, it's decided then we'll meet again on 6 the 19th of December. Can we meet a little earlier? Let me 7 ask this, speaking of meaningful public participation; what hour of the day do you people think is most convenient for you 8 9 so you can come to these meetings, you know? Anybody want to express views? Is it better at 9:00 in the morning or 6:00 at 10 night? Yes, sir? 11

MR. COLE: Okay. Yes?

16 AUDIENCE COMMENTS: I would agree with that basically for the same reasons, that most of us have other things that we 17 18 have to do during the day. So, if evening meetings are 19 possible, I would prefer that.

20 MR. COLE: Any contrary views? Well, I see Representative Kubina there, he's objecting to the evening 21 hours, but -- well, all right. We will set it then -- is 22 5:00 o'clock or would 6:00 o'clock be better? 23 I mean, you know -- yes? 24

Council is coming up on their two year anniversary of being formed and they've had a lot of -- they're a little on the topheavy side and they've made a lot of mistakes, but they've also made a lot of leaps forward in accomplishing things. MR. COLE: Good thought. Can we make sure that the Executive Director, whomever it may be, keeps that in mind. Yes?

AUDIENCE COMMENTS: Yes, Charlie, the MOA between the two Governments states that you have a mutual desire to maximize funds available for restoration. And I'm kind of curious whether the conversation has come up to give the one hundred million dollars given, that each of the respective Governments forgive it and leave it in the restoration fund.

20 MR. COLE: It's a little matter outside my control. I 21 haven't thought about that before and I'd have to give some 22 thought on how that -- who could really do that, you know. 23 See, that money from the standpoint of the State, goes to what 24 I call a State Exchequer, the State Treasury, and I would say 25 before that could be yanked out of there, it would have to be

MR. COLE: I think -- well, let's take a look at it and make sure. Well, it says that we shall agree to an organizational structure for decision-making, and procedures for meaningful public participation, et cetera, within 90 days. Yes, Mr.

21 MR. PENNOYER: I guess I'd hope that we're doing more 22 than just agreeing upon a framework in 90 days. I hope we've 23 got something up and running where we're doing something within 24 that time frame.

18 MR. ROSIER: Yeah. I think that you heard us talking 19 about some of the programs that are ongoing here a little 20 earlier; that work is work that we will definitely have in the 21 field, though, before summer. Some of those projects are going 22 on pretty much on a 12-month basis. But those are the ones we 23 want to review. MR. COLE: Yes, sir?

AUDIENCE COMMENTS: Not having to wait for the summer 11 12 months to do something good for Prince William Sound and the 13 other effected areas could be the acquisition of some of the 14 timber rights and lands that are being deforested right now, 15 the destruction and harm to the natural resources that could 16 potentially go much longer in its impact than the Oil Spill. 17 Some of those monies could be used tomorrow to stop some of 18 that destruction. And so, just keep that in mind.

19 MR. COLE: Yes. Thank you. Anyone else, please? 20 Yes, sir?

public members on, I guess, what would now be the Restoration Planning Group. Even having three public -- could be nonvoting, but at least public members on there. And, I know Mr. Pennoyer is familiar with that.

5 The North Pacific Fishery Management Council has 11 6 voting members, but it also has three other members that are 7 non-voting members; they merely provide additional information 8 to the Council. And, they don't actually participate in 9 decisions, but they can participate as full members in the 10 discussion.

I wonder if the State trustees had ever given any thought to that, and if the Federal trustees would comment on that, and that way you would institute it at a higher level than what you may be considering right now.

15 MR. COLE: The answer to your question directed in the 16 State trustees is no. The question was, have you given any 17 consideration to that; and the answer to that was no. And then 18 he asked, as I recall, whether we would like to have comments 19 from the Federal trustees.

20 MR. PENNOYER: We haven't -- we haven't really 21 considered that. As far as the planning process and public 22 participation, how it interacts is, I think, going to be a key 23 element. I don't think we've really gotten our minds made up 24 one way or another yet. We have a Public Advisory Group, which 25 may or may not actually participate more formally with both the
