SUBJECT: July Meeting Correspondence

Enclosed is the correspondence generated from the July meeting in Sitka. The meeting summary should be completed in approximately one month.

For your information two moves are coming up soon that will affect the Water Resources Board. First, the Water Management Section is moving from the MacKay Annex to the Cordova Building. Our new address will be 555 Cordova Street, 99501. This move (at last report) will take place over Labor Day weekend. One of the benefits of the move will be to consolidate the various parts of the Department of Natural Resources into one general location in Anchorage. The Southcentral District Office will be in the MacKay Annex while most of the rest of DNR will be in the Cordova Building which is only two blocks away.

The second move is that I am moving to Fairbanks to become the Water and Materials Officer at the Northcentral District Office on September 9. The details on who will take over my Water Board staff duties have not been worked out but I expect to remain involved with the Water Board to some degree, at least through the next meeting. Whatever happens I want to say it's been a real pleasure working with all of you and that I hope you continue with your active interest in our programs.
